

CRU

Analysis

Free Trial Offer

Tin Monitor

Produced in partnership with

To coincide with the International Tin Conference in Budapest in April, CRU is offering tin industry participants a free trial of its Tin Monitor service, providing cutting-edge insight into recent developments in the global tin market.

The Tin Monitor has been produced by CRU in partnership with the International Tin Association for over two decades providing leading analysis, insight and statistics to key companies and individuals in the global tin industry. The service includes the bi-monthly Tin Monitor market report along with weekly updates of relevant market news and access to our analysts.

- Analysis of recent trends and outlook for tin supply, consumption and stocks
- Explanations of recent and expected price movements and meaning for industry participants
- Insight on China market developments provided by our local analysts
- Special features cover topics such as longer-term supply and demand outlooks, country analysis and costs

The free trial offer can be redeemed at any time and will expire at the end of April 2018

Tin Conference delegates subsequently subscribing will be entitled to a special introductory rate

To sign up for the free trial, email harry.walford@crugroup.com
For more information, contact tom.mulqueen@internationaltin.org