About your hosts

The International Tin Association (formerly ITRI) is a UK based not for profit membership based organisation supported by many of the world's largest tin producers. We are the only organisation dedicated to supporting the tin industry and expanding tin use. A primary goal is to ensure an innovative, competitive, and sustainable supply chain and market for tin.

We are a focal point for discussion and action on important regional and global issues affecting the tin industry, promoting the industry worldwide, providing authority, leadership and voice.

Supported by ITA's Tin Explorers & Developers Group
