

Asia Tin Week 2023

8th -10th November
Chengdu Sichuan China

We are delighted to invite you to the distinguished Asia Tin Week 2023, taking place in the vibrant city of Chengdu, Sichuan province, China, from the 8th to the 10th of November 2023. Further details are forthcoming.

Our dynamic world, with its compelling trends and challenges, sets the stage for a fascinating exploration into the future of tin, a cornerstone metal. These transformations provide an opportunity to chart new pathways and mould a future characterized by balance, sustainability, and prosperity.

- What could the mining suspension in Myanmar's Wa State mean for the global tin industry?
- How might the Indonesian government's agenda for building a downstream tin industry progress?
- Are Peru, Bolivia, and Africa able to seize the opportunity to bridge the supply gap in tin mining and production?
- Could the flourishing advancements in automotive electronics, AI, 5G, and other fields spur a renaissance for tin, particularly within the booming photovoltaic industry?

These intriguing topics will be the focus of Asia Tin Week 2023. The conference will gather the best minds in the industry - influential tin miners, smelters, traders, and end-user enterprises. Industry experts will deliver insightful analysis on a spectrum of issues from macroeconomics, supply, consumption, inventory to sustainable development. Additionally, analysts from the International Tin Association will discuss the latest trends and prospects.

At this unique event, you'll have the unparalleled opportunity to connect directly with counterparts in the tin industry, fostering global collaboration and shared advancement.

The International Tin Association, a leading entity in global tin market research, is committed to the sustainable and healthy growth of the tin industry. We warmly anticipate your presence in Chengdu, a city imbued with rich history and culture, to imagine and shape the future of the tin industry together. Join us in exploring the thriving prospects for tin in our rapidly evolving world!
